Monograms Presented At Annual Thanks- giving Feasting

Twenty-One Cadets Receive Coveted Football "A", Joe
Keegin Awarded Gold Ball

On Friday night after a glorious Thanksgiving day, the corps sallied forth to the mess hall in quest of our annual football banquet. It was as usual a glorious repast, as may be seen by the two hours spent in the enjoyment of a genuine turkey dinner, music and revelry.

The mess hall was attractively decorated for the occasion with pennants and American flags. The tables were also very attractive with flowers and fruit in the center of each table.

The music for the occasion was furnished by the school orchestra. They played many popular numbers which were enjoyed by the corps and the many guests.

As in the days of old, when victorious warriors held a feast at which they rewarded the heroes of a battle

Y. M. C. A. PRESENTS INTERESTING SPEAKERS DURING FALL TERM

The Y. M. C. A. of A. M. A. began its 1934-1935 season with an enrollment of seventy-three new cadets together with the renewal of memberships by a large majority of the old cadets.

Captain Wilfred B. Webb is again leader of the "Y" and is assisted in music by Mrs. Robinson.

Already this year the "Y" has presented some very interesting programs included in which were, a talk by Major Jacobs, his subject being, "Wine, Women and Song", and a talk by Major Robinson on the "Phillipines."

Thanksgiving Dances Prove Huge Success

Formal Led By Cadet Captain
Frank Trotman Escorting
Miss Billie Argenbright

The Thanksgiving dances at A. M. A. as in years past, proved themselves an overwhelming success.

The dances were divided into a Formal dance on Friday night November 30, and an informal dance on Saturday night, December 1.

The Formal on Friday night was led by Cadet Captain Frank Trotman escorting Miss Billie Argenbright. He was assisted by Cadet First Lt. Lester Higbee escorting Miss Frances McCray.

As usual Mary Baldwin and Stuart Hall girls furnished the majority of the delightful feminine touch to the affair although a number of the girls were invited from the Cadets' home towns.

The "lassies" dressed in the seasons' latest formal attire together with the appearance of the Cadet Corps in Mess Jackets lent a very formal air to the occasion.

Among the guests were a number of Alumni including: Charlie Bernier, "Rip" Reniers, "Buck" Lawson, Dabney Sandige, "Pres" Hodges, Julian Roper, Louis Somerville and Norman Daughtery.

Bill Morrison and His Orchestra contributed their part in making the "Formal" one of the seasons' most

A.M.A. Victorious In Thanksgiving Game Over Fishburne M.S.

Augusta's Margin of Victory
Only One Point; Keegin
and St. Clair Heroes

A. M. A.'s football warriors celebrated Thanksgiving day with a glorious win over Fishburne Military School in Augusta's Clay Bowl. The game, although played in a sea of mud, was packed with thrills throughout the entire four quarters.

The score of the game which was 7 to 6 reveals the keen competition each team offered the other.

For years Augusta and Fishburne have been stubborn rivals on the gridiron and this year proved to be no exception. Both teams played on even terms almost throughout the entire game.

Fishburne scored in the early minutes of the initial quarter after a brilliant 80 yard dash by St. Clair, one of Fishburne's greatest backfield threats. From this position Fish-

CAVALRY COMES OUT; P. O. MAIL INCREASES; ORCHESTRA IMPROVES

The school cavalry, under the supervision and teaching of horsemanship by Lt. C. S. Roller, III., made its initial appearance on the parade ground for practice maneuvers December 8th.

The cavalry, which consisted of some twenty-six horses and riders presented a very military appearance. The section was divided into two cavalry platoons led by the cavalry officer, Lt. Roller. Platoons leaders are cadets Jones and Miller, W., two of the sections' best riders.

The unit, which has made marvelous progress this year, is fast rounding into form. The next Sunday parade will probably include the unit.

"If your eye offend you, pluck it out."

Most schools have boasted, or, if sincere, have at least admitted the existence of some form of "Rat System" within their student body.

It may not have been called by this particular degrading name, but it was a "Rat System" just the same. It lived and had its being either openly recognized, or merely condoned by those in authority. It was deemed either beneficial, or recognized as a necessary evil.

It may have its virtues. Even this is debatable. However, wherever it exists, there must be a penalty for the infraction of its rules. This frequently means hazing in a more or less brutal form. That is no longer tolerated by a civilized world.

There are those who contend that practical jokes are harmless and that a new boy, who fails to enter into the spirit of these little parties given at his expense, is not fit material for the school whose doors he has entered.

Admitting that in certain cases this might be true, there are young men whose sensitive natures abhor ridicule and public humiliation to them would be as painful as physical punishment. This is mental hazing and is as deplorable as corporal punishment.

Does a "Rat System" promote good discipline? Emphatically, "no."

It is conducive of fear, which inculcates blind but unwilling obedience. It makes a boy an automaton. A real and permanent discipline can only be instilled by a thorough understanding and a desire for instant cooperation. This does not subordinate individuality or destroy aggressiveness.

Real discipline promotes peace, harmony, and a maximum efficiency, while false discipline breeds only mutiny and rebellion.

The A. M. A. corps of 1933-'34, believing that hazing was a barbarous practice, abolished the "Rat System" from the school and adopted in its stead a system based on privileges awarded for academic excellence and seniority of service.

There must always be a distinction between the old and the new. It is true in business and true in

A. M. A. 1934 RECALL RECEIVES UNIQUE RECOGNITION

A recent communication from the Jann and Ollier Engraving Company of Chicago, advises Captain McCray of a particular distinction the 1934 Recall enjoyed this past summer. In a collection of the outstanding annuals exhibited by Marshall Field for the attraction of World Fair visitors the Recall was selected to represent the military prep. school class of the United States. Its selection was based on the advanced design of make-up, characterized by the complete absence of any irrelevant meaningless decorative matter, and upon its distinction as consistently expressive of fine typography.

JUNIOR ATHLETICSTIGERS

The Junior football teams of A. M. A. this year were far more superior than in previous years.

The Tigers of Juniors Varsity, which is the heavier of the Junior teams, had a very successful season under the tutorship of Lieut. C. S. Roller.

They played nine games, winning six and losing three. Statistics show they outplayed all their opponent and lost the three by heart breaking scores.

The outstanding players for the season were: Manry, Corken, Jacob, Tully, Felts, F. Stong and Davis.

PEEPS

The Peeps are just one step below the Tigers.

They rode the crest of success all season under the brilliant coaching of Capt. Deane.

Seven hard games were played but the Peeps managed to overhaul their opponents by trick plays and fast pases. They blocked, tackled, and ran like teams that made the name "Rockne" known all over the country.

Capt. Deane isn't saying if there are any 'Stars In His Crown', but he can truthfully say he had some on his team.

Quarles, Jordan, Shomo, Clyborne, Adam and Fernald played wonderful ball all season.

Quarles and Jordan starred in the back field. Jordan's long sweeps around end and Quarles line crackling was one reason for the teams success. Adams and Clyborne's blocking enabled the backfield to run on their opponents at will.

ALL OPPONENT TEAM

Following selection was made by A. M. A.'s Varsity Football Team:

Names	Positions	School
Sanford	R. E.	H.M.A.
Ellwood	R. T.	G.M.A.
Crammack	R. G.	F.M.A.
DeVar	C.	F.U.M.A.
Clinton	L. T.	M.M.A.
Merrick	L. G.	F.U.M.A.
Buns	L. E.	S.M.A.

Tighe	R. E.	Tigers
McClung, Capt.	Q. B.	Peeps
Carillo & Acosta	L. H.	Sardines

SARDINES

The Sardines were not as successful as the Junior teams.

They were coached by Lieut. E. B. Werthierner and Cadet Sam Rees.

Lieut. Werthierner is looking forward to a championship team for next season.

We will have to salute Lieutenant for the stubborn defensive games his team played all season.

The players that started in every game were: Bolling, Knox, W., Acosta and Carillo.

Bolling was the most versatile player on the team.

HUMOR

She:—"Are you doing anything for that cold of yours"?

He:—"I sneeze whenever it wants me to".

Sgt.:—"What's the first thing to do when cleaning a rifle"?

Private:—"Look at the number".

Sgt.:—"And what has that to do with it"?

Private:—"To make sure I am cleaning my own gun".

Science Teacher:—"What did Burns write"?

Pupil:—"He wrote, Ta a Mouse".
Voice in back of room:—"Didn't get an answer did he"?

Capt. Williams:—"If John Paul Jones were alive today, what do you think he would be doing?"

Bosman:—"Living on an old age pension."

She:—"What was the greatest difficulty George Washington had to contend with?"

He:—"He couldn't tell a lie."

Capt. Roderick:—"No woman ever made a fool out of me."

Miller, W.:—"Well, who did then."

Mitchell:—"Congratulations, Coach, you are the best coach I ever had."

Capt. Williams:—"Yes, I think you will make the basketball team."

Byers:—"Rees lend me your pants."

Rees:—"That's the way 'I' got them."

Capt. McCray:—"Rees, do you swear that you did not receive help on this test?"

Rees:—"I do not swear, sir, I am a Quaker."

THE DIARY OF A PROMINENT MAN

In 1909, James Floyd Shorts, better known as "Jim", started working at old A. M. A. After working for a year, "Jim" felt the call of the open spaces, and wondered around loose for a year. This kind of life did not agree with "Jim" so, for the second time he started working for Augusta. For 23 years "Jim" has worked like a demon. In all these years "Jim" has never missed coming to work except for one week.

"Jim" was born on "Hill Top" just back of the barracks. This old house is still standing and I'm sure every true Augusta man has visited it. For 15 years, "Jim" lived quietly there.

On November 8, 1917, "Jim" enlisted in the Army, but at this time his tonsils were in bad condition consequently he could not pass the examination. This was a tough break for "Jim" for surely he would have risen to the rank of sergeant. Now with the help of the Augusta boys, our friend will be raised to rank of field marshal.

"Jim" later moved to Mt. Sidney and after a number of years of popularity among the young set he married, then moved to New Hope. His wife before her marriage was Irene White, who like the rest of us is very fond of "Jim".

During the day while working, "Jim" can be heard singing, which echoes all over the barracks. He has a wonderful voice and any man in school who has not heard him has missed an awful lot.

After the end of each year, who has been more faithful than J. F. Shorts?

Maj. Roller:—"Maloney, wake up."

Maloney:—"I'm not asleep, sir, I'm only resting my eyes."

Jordan:—"Major, someone stole a dollar from me."

Major:—"Son, son, don't say someone stole it, say someone borrowed it."

THANKSGIVING FEAST

our chief, Major Roller bestowed upon our gridiron warriors the coveted "A". It was indeed a glorious moment for those who received their monogram, as well as for the admiring throng of cadets, mothers, fathers and sweethearts.

The following men were awarded monograms, Allen S., captain; Keegin, Wheeler H, Wheeler W, Pennybacker, Fusco, Nixon, Jackson, Mitchell, Heilman, Sedwick, Maloney, Rees Zizak, Perry, Wharton, Foreman, Carlan, Dempsey, Weber and Cason, manager.

After awarding the monograms Major Roller awarded to Keegin the gold football for being the most valuable player on the team.

Major Roller then called on Captain John Galagher to say a few words. Captain Galagher said that in all of his football experience he thought that the 1934 team of A. M. A. was the best that he had ever seen. Then the orchestra player the school song. The banquet is over but the memory lingers on.

RECEIVING COMMITTEE

Since the abolition of the "Rat System" at A. M. A. the principals have deemed it necessary to appoint and have a committee elected to hear and to rule on violations of the 'New Code'.

The committee which is called The Receiving Committee is composed of two members of the faculty, two members from the first year men, two members from the second year men, two members from the third year men, and two members from the forth year men.

The cadets representing the different years are as follows:

First year, Keegin and Jackson.
Second year, Carlan and Tully.
Third year, Byrd and Payne A.
Fourth year, Farnsworth and Quarles.

The faculty representatives which were selected by the principals include Major Robinson and Captain Deane.

This committee which will meet as often as necessary will receive, study and pass on the charges brought up against a cadet in regards to the violations of both the code.

SCHOOL ITEMS

The school Post Office under the postmastership of Cadets Bosman and Seaton is doing its usual spurt of good business.

As Christmas nears the incoming mail seems to be larger than the outgoing mail. Maybe the reason for this sudden change is the season. Because it won't be long before the female sex of the numerous love affairs will (naturally) be expecting that well known Xmas cheer in the form of a nice gift. Therefore they double their effort to keep in contact with their lovers.

Colonel Roller received a very constructive letter the other day from a high ranking army officer.

The letter had to do with the custom of the Corp in saluting all civilians passing in cars by the school. The letter expressed the constructive features of the salute. Although the salute causes little, if any, trouble to the cadets it expresses the politeness an A. M. A. cadet is always ready to show any visitor or stranger passing the school.

As in former years, the snow of December 6th afforded amusement and something entirely new to the cadets who hail from the warmer sections of the continent.

A certain cadet from Cuba was seen feeling the white flakes and no doubt was wondering just how it came about.

The school orchestra under the direction of Cadet Prentiss showed a marked degree of improvement in their second engagement over the first.

A number of new arrangements were introduced which made the dance a very enjoyable affair.

Augusta Military Academy in the past has been able to boast of one of the best prep school dance orchestras in the state. As the school year goes on, if the present orchestra continues to improve, as it did in its second engagement over the first, we will be able to continue our boasting.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Hull, Jr., are the proud parents of a baby girl. Martha Virginia Hull, born on November 30, 1934. Captain Hull was formerly a member of the faculty at A. M. A.

The "Y" has also had a number of other interesting programs including the fine "Pep Meetings" held before the football games.

The "Y" has planned a most interesting program for its last meeting before Christmas Holidays. Although the principle speaker has not yet been chosen, Capt. Webb promises another interesting talk by some well known speaker.

The Cotillion Club wishes to extend extreme thanks to the Corps of Cadets for the wonderful support they have shown them in making all dances not only possible, but an over-whelming success.

RECALL STAFF

The RECALL has gotten away to a start with the following appointment, on the STAFF made recently.
Julian Quarles.....Editor-in-Chief
Ralph Greely.....Ass't. Editor-in-Chief
Dick Miller.....Business Manager
Bob Byers.....Advertising Editor
The other members of the RECALL STAFF will be chosen after the Christmas holidays.

With the co-operation of everyone the RECALL has excellent promise of maintaining the high standard it has set in the past years.

The school gym has been very busy and a popular place for the last few days.

Since the intra-mural athletics have gotten well under way the school gym is about the only place around the school inhabited in the evenings.

Cadets not participating, or whose fights have finished, are either practicing Basketball or cheering their companies on to victory from the bleachers.

Miss Grace Mayo and Captain Williams were united in marriage on September twelfth, nineteen hundred and thirty-four, in Norfolk, Va.

Miss Linda Todd of near Staunton, Virginia and Lt. Roller were united in marriage on September 13, 1934, in Washington, D. C.

Lt. Wertheimer has been added to the faculty at A. M. A. He is taking the place of Captain Hurtt who was called into the service. Captain Hurtt is now located at Fort Meade.

The Glenmore Hunt Club of Staunton rode to hounds on the grounds of A. M. A. on Saturday afternoon, November 10, 1934. The cavalry of A. M. A. rode in the spectacular hunt. Major Roller was the master of hounds.

Major Bonwell has taken over the place as P. M. S. T. at A. M. A. in the place of Major Brinkley.

Mrs. C. S. Roller, Jr., entertained at her home at Fort Defiance, Va., on November 1, 1934, from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. in honor of Mrs. Williams and Mrs. C. S. Roller the third, who were recent brides. Tea was served to about 200 guests.

burne took to the air. Chillcote passed to Preddy for the first score and Fishburne's only tally. The point from placement by Cannon was wide.

The remainder of the first period showed that Augusta was certainly out for blood, in the form of revenge. The period ended with Augusta well on their way to a score.

Augusta opened up the second period with the same fight and determination in which they finished the first. With eyes wide open for anything that might happen Augusta recovered a fumble on Fishburne's 10 yard line. From this point Augusta's pride and joy, Joe Keegin, plunged over for Augusta's lone touchdown. With the same driving power which he displayed in the score for the touchdown Joe Keegin crashed over Fishburne's left tackle for the point after touchdown which proved to be Augusta's margin of victory.

The remainder of the second period and the second half was practically a mud battle with neither team scoring again.

Keegin leading Augusta's attack was ably supported by his backfield mates Allen, Carlan, and Foreman. Maloney played his usual brilliant game in Augusta's line being ably supported by Pennybacker and Nixon.

St. Clair and Chillcote did some marvelous ball toting, pass catching and receiving for Fishburne, while Preddy, Masters, and Mendelson bore the brunt of Fishburne's defensive work which at times seemed almost impregnable.

tertaind the recent brides during the month of November.

Captain and Mrs. Webb entertained Captain and Mrs. Williams, and Lieut. and Mrs. C. S. Roller the third, on the evening of December 8, 1934 with a bridge dinner consisting of six tables. Early in the evening Mrs. Webb served a delightful dinner to her many guests. After dinner the guests played bridge.

Major Roller has proven to us that he is endeavoring to bring to A. M. A. good constructive moving pictures.

The last picture, "The Defense Rests" was a splendid picture portraying some wonderful acting.

enjoyable affairs.

The Gym, which was decorated in a true Thanksgiving fashion, presented an appearance due a real good dance.

An Informal Dance followed the "Formal" on Saturday night, December 1. The majority of Cadets escorted the same girls they invited to the "Formal", therefore the "Informal" was a mere continuation of the glorious affair of the night before.

The Cotillion Club officers of Staunton Military Academy were invited to the "Informal" as guests of A. M. A.'s Cotillion Club.

The school orchestra under the direction of Cadet Prentiss lent the necessary musical selections which made the "Informal" a climax to the Holidays leading social affairs.

life. It must be, but this distinction should be based on respect for superior knowledge and greater service.

We have a lot to learn yet and there are many mistakes of which to be reminded, but the old boy is cultivating the big brother attitude and the new is loving him for it. A delightful spirit of happiness and enthusiasm pervades our barracks.

Now we can hold up our heads and look the world in the face. There is no skeleton in our closet. We have not only swept in front of our door but we have also given the inside a thorough cleaning. The "Rat System" has been forever abolished.
